2017 Symposium for Agricultural & Applied Economics Research at Texas A&M

Dear All,

Attached, please find the flyer for the 2017 Symposium for Agricultural & Applied Economics Research at Texas A&M, which will be held on April 7th in the Equine building. As many of you know, the Department of Economics is collaborating with us this year to bring in the keynote speaker, and will also have a nice representation of student paper and poster presentations.

We ask that you register for the event by March 31st so we are able to properly accommodate food supplies for everyone who is registered.

Also, please follow this link to check out the Symposium website and links to all of the abstracts and profiles for each presenter.

Lastly, please share this email and the attached flyer to anyone who might be interested in attending, and be sure to email us with any questions or concerns! We are greatly looking forward to the event.

Sincerely,

SAAER Committee
