

Additional Position Announcements

Assistant Professor, The Georgia Institute of Technology's School of Public Policy is seeking applications for a tenure-track position. assistant professor rank. A Ph.D. in economics, public policy, or related field who will teach policy analysis and advise graduate students on Georgia Tech's Atlanta campus. Applicants should submit: 1) cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) up to three publications; 4) research and teaching statement, including concrete descriptions of future research plans and teaching interests; and 5) names and contact information of three academic references. Please apply using the on-line application process at <https://academicjobsonline.org> . Direct any questions by email to facsearch@pubpolicy.gatech.edu with "pubpol" in the subject line. Applications are due on or before November 1, 2017.

The Department of Agricultural Economics and UNL Extension is seeking candidates for a twelve-month, non-tenured, Extension Educator position with an appointment of 100% Extension located within the Department of Agricultural Economics. Master's degree required; one degree in agricultural economics or closely related field. Master's degree must be completed by start date. Review of applications will begin on 10/02/2017. Position will remain open until a suitable candidate is found or search is closed. For a detailed job description, additional qualifications and how to apply, go to <http://employment.unl.edu> and search for requisition F_160139. Contact Dave Aiken at 402-472-1848 or daiken@unl.edu with questions about this position.

Professor with Special Responsibilities in the Economics/Business Economics of Food, University of Copenhagen. The Department of Food and Resource Economics (IFRO) looks to develop its research, teaching, and outreach within the Economics and/or Business Economics of Food further, by opening this professorship with special emphasis on food, notably meat. Focus may be on producing and processing industry as well as consumption aspects. To lead this development IFRO is searching for a professor with special obligations, who will take on a core role in this field. The application including all attachments must be in English and submitted electronically by clicking APPLY NOW. Please include Curriculum vitae including information about external funding, Diplomas (Master and PhD degree or equivalent), Research plan – description of current and future research plans, Description and documentation of teaching experience and qualifications according to university guidelines, Complete publication list, Separate reprints of 5 particularly relevant papers, The deadline for applications is Sunday 15th October 2017. For more information and to apply go to: <http://employment.ku.dk/faculty/?show=145391>

Assistant/Associate Professor, Department of Agricultural and Applied Economics, The University of Georgia. Full time, Tenure Track, 9 month appointment, teaching/research split negotiable. Spearhead an internationally recognized research program focusing on agricultural, environmental, resource, or development economics. Teaching appointment will alternate between two and three classes per year and may include a summer course. A Ph.D. in Agricultural Economics, Applied Economics, or Economics is required with strong knowledge of economic theory and quantitative methods, willingness to work in a team environment, excellent oral and written communication skills, and the ability and commitment to attract significant amounts of external funding. (1) a letter of application including a description of academic qualifications and experience; (2) curriculum vitae; (3) evidence of teaching and service experience (if any); (4) graduate school transcripts; and (5) names and contact information for three professional references. Applications must be submitted online at <https://facultyjobs.uga.edu/>. For questions, please contact Dr. Craig Landry, Search Committee Chair, Department of Agricultural and Applied Economics, University of Georgia, Athens, GA 30602. Phone: 706-542-0747. Email: clandry@uga.edu. Review of applications will begin on October 18, 2017. Expected Start Date: August, 2018.

Assistant/Associate Professor-Extension Specialist, Agricultural Economics, University of Idaho, College of Agricultural and Life Sciences. The Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology (AERS) at the University of Idaho (UI) is inviting applications for an Assistant/Associate Professor-Extension Specialist of Agricultural Economics, a 12-month, 70% extension/30% research tenure track position. Location: Central District (Twin Falls). Develop a vigorous extension program based upon nationally-recognized research supported by extramural funding in agricultural economics. Areas of expertise may include, but are not limited to, farm management, agricultural finance, production economics, agricultural marketing, or agricultural policy. Required Qualifications: 1. A PhD in Agricultural Economics, Economics or a closely related field is required by start of employment. 2. Excellent training in quantitative methods, econometrics, and applied microeconomic theory. Application deadline is September 15, 2017. The full position description and application portal can be found on the UI Employment website at <https://uidaho.peopleadmin.com/postings/18759> (Posting Number F000604P). One research paper is required and may be submitted by email directly to Ms. Gayle Gleason, ggleason@uidaho.edu

Assistant Professor/Extension Specialist, Agricultural Economics, University of Idaho, College of Agricultural and Life Sciences. The Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology (AERS) at the University of Idaho (UI) is inviting applications for an Assistant Professor/Extension Specialist of Agricultural Economics, a 12-month, 65% extension/35% research/5% service tenure track position. Location: Central District (Twin Falls). Expectations are to develop a vigorous extension program based upon nationally-recognized research supported by extramural funding in agricultural economics. Areas of expertise may include, but are not limited to, farm management, agricultural finance, production economics, agricultural marketing, or agricultural policy. Required Qualifications: 1. A PhD in Agricultural Economics, Economics or a closely related field is required by start of employment. 2. Excellent training in quantitative methods, econometrics, and applied microeconomic theory. Application deadline is September 15, 2017. The full position description and application portal can be found on the UI Employment website at <https://uidaho.peopleadmin.com/postings/18036> (Posting Number F000588P). One research paper is required and may be submitted by email directly to Ms. Gayle Gleason, ggleason@uidaho.edu

Assistant Professor, Agricultural Economics, University of Idaho, College of Agricultural and Life Sciences. The Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology (AERS) at the University of Idaho (UI) is inviting applications for an Assistant Professor of Agricultural Economics, a 9-month, 55% research/40% teaching/5% service tenure track position. Required Qualifications: 1. A PhD in Agricultural Economics, Economics, Business, or a closely related field is required by start of employment. 2. Specialization or focus in agricultural markets, price analysis, and/or finance. 3. Excellent training in quantitative methods, econometrics, and applied microeconomic theory. Application deadline is September 15, 2017. The full position description and application portal can be found on the UI's Employment website <https://uidaho.peopleadmin.com/postings/18221> (posting # F000921P). One research paper is required and may be submitted by email directly to Ms. Gayle Gleason, ggleason@uidaho.edu