

Ronald D. Lacewell

2013 CV

Education

B.S., Agricultural Economics, Texas Tech University, 1963
- Statistics, American University, 1964
M.S., Agricultural Economics, Texas Tech University, 1967
Ph.D., Agricultural Economics, Oklahoma State University, 1970

Employment

Bureau of the Census	Statistician	1963-64
Texas Tech University	Instructor	1966
U.S.D.A., ERS	Economist	1967-70
Texas A&M University	Assistant Professor	1970-73
Texas A&M University	Associate Professor	1973-78
Texas A&M University	Professor	1978-Present
Texas A&M University	Asst. Vice Chancellor/Prof.	1/96-Present

Membership and Participation in Professional Activities

American, Southern, and Western Agricultural Economics Associations, Past member of Editorial Council of American Journal of Agricultural Economics and Southern Journal of Agricultural Economics, previously Vice President of Western Agricultural Economics Association, member of Alpha Zeta and Sigma Xi Honor Societies, Texas delegate and Board Member of the University Council on Water and Resources (President 2006), Distinguished Performance Award for the TAMU Agricultural, Forestry, and Veterinary Complex (individual research in 1980 and team research in 1989 and again in 1998), honored as Distinguished Alumni at Texas Tech University, TAMU Department of Agricultural Economics Research Award, WAEA Quality of Communication Award. SAEA Distinguished Professional Contribution Award in Research for 1992. , Southern Agriculture Economics Association Lifetime Achievement award (2004), Western Agricultural Economics Association Scholar Award (2005) The Borlaug Lifetime Achievement Award by the Texas Plant Protection Association (2012).